Everyone, thank you very much for participating in the Rebirth of Human Divinity Festival.

As in previous years, this year's festival is again held in two parts. In the morning, at the Fuji Sanctuary, together with the staff, we carried out the communion with the Mitama and their purification, the Global Prayer, and the ritual for the world of delusion. I would like to report to you that all of this was completed safely.

At that time, our departed ones—family members, children, brothers and sisters, colleagues, friends in the faith, and the many Mitama resting in the cemetery—were all present as truly dazzling light, in the very form of God.

Goi-sensei, the Guardian Divine Spirits Group of the Great Light of Salvation, and the Guardian Deities and Spirits, of course, as well as our ancestors, and at the very forefront the Universal God—led by them, many Mitama received that purification and communion together with us.

Let me tell you a little about "the story of one Mitama" that I felt at that time.

This was a soul who, while living in this life, knew nothing at all of the Truth, and lived in the belief that after death there would be nothing. At the moment of death, it seems this person was enveloped in light, but I sensed that this person existed with the consciousness that the light had nothing whatsoever to do with them.

But at a certain moment, it seems that everything suddenly changed. The moment this person was enveloped in a certain special light, they felt that the light was a divine light, and at the same time, they felt something deeply nostalgic and reassuring from its energy. It was a supremely sublime light, and yet something about its energy felt very close and familiar, and this person found they could quietly entrust themselves to it.

The moment they entrusted themselves, that light came flowing softly into them, and the realization "I am originally divine" welled up from within, as if overflowing, and all the answers came forth. In that instant, all the light and this person became one and were guided toward evolution. Such an image came to me.

The next day, as I was reading one of Goi-sensei's books, I found the following written there. At the moment of death, we are not taken to the divine world, to heaven. Rather, even now, while living in the physical body of this life, a part of us exists in the divine world, a part in the spirit world, and a part in the physical world.

Yet within that, when our daily lives are caught up in emotions and thoughts, and in selfish desires alone, the more we dwell on those things, the more we come to exist in a heavy place, far removed from our original self that is in the divine world.

When I read that book, I wondered whether that was how it had been for that Mitama. At the moment of death, this person had not connected with the divine world where their original self is, but had remained apart from it, and there must have been a great distance between them.

But what this person came to know afterward was that that special light was the light of the Divine Spark IN, which the members of Byakko Shinko Kai had been forming. Though living in physical bodies, by forming that special IN, they blended the light of the divine world of the Universal God with the energy of the physical body and delivered it.

It was that very light that did not let this person remain there, but awakened their original divinity, so that they could go straight to their original form and to the place where they were originally meant to go. That was the message I felt.

That Mitama said, "I am not the only one. There are so many Mitama like me, and so I have been waiting and waiting for this day. I want to thank all of you who formed this IN."

And at the same time, "In the event held today, as a Mitama above, please let me do all that I can to repay this kindness. And for the sake of the many lives, the many Mitama, that are being saved in this way, I too will work with all my strength together with all of you." I felt that energy very strongly.

Now that the name has changed to the Rebirth of Human Divinity Festival, it truly matches the Divine Spark IN, and in this way, on this day, we once again carry out the work for peace and tranquility on this earth, together with those in the other world.

Of course, our communion with those we love is purely blessing, purely joy, purely an exchange of love. But beyond that, we firmly raise upward the many Mitama who passed away this year. I feel that this day exists for that truly important role.

In this regard, what Maki-sensei said in the morning was, "Through this ritual, I truly felt the presence of the Mitama so strongly, and I felt very strongly that we were purifying together with those many Mitama."

"By doing this together—we who now have physical bodies in this physical world, the Deities who have gone to the heavenly world, and the many Mitama who have been saved—I felt the power by which so many Mitama are purified in an instant."

That is exactly why I am convinced that today, together with all of you members, and through the Global Prayer, the spark kindled this morning will become a much larger and more powerful flame through the great light, energy, and prayers of members throughout Japan and all over the world, and will once again carry out a great work.

Also, what Rika-sensei said was, "Not a single life is ever left behind." We carry out the work of life that transcends life and death, and on this day we savor the moment in which we let our life work in the field of the universe.

Of course, as I have said many times, our beloved relatives and loved ones, purely in the dazzling form of the light of the Deities, are pouring so much love upon us.

After feeling that, heaven and earth become one, and we firmly carry out the work of the life we have been given, which in turn creates the future peace of humanity and the earth. Toward the great accomplishment of this "Grand Ceremony of the Rebirth of Human Divinity," I would like to walk forward once again together with all of you.

Thank you very much for today as well.

《Talk by Masami-sensei》

Good day, everyone.

Today, at the Fuji Sanctuary, I would like to convey to you the tremendous power of the light of the Divine Spark IN, which we form together in this way, and through which so many things have been bestowed upon us from heaven.

Compared with when I form the IN alone at home, forming it in oneness with all of you members and so many people, with our hearts as one, I feel that it is I who am receiving a power truly a hundred times, ten thousand times greater than the power of forming it alone.

I was utterly exhausted, and I have overcome quite a number of illnesses and become well again. But through your loving thoughts, through the light and the IN, I feel as though I too have become well and returned to my former self.

Forming the IN together with all of you in this way—at the Fuji Sanctuary, in each of your homes, and in each of your gatherings—means that the energy of this IN can spread not only to us and to Japan, but throughout the whole world.

Beyond every wall of national borders, we are sending light to many people: to the poor, to the sorrowful, to the sick, and to those with all kinds of problems.

Living in physical bodies in this way, and joining our strength together with all of you to form the IN at the same time, means that hundreds and thousands of times more energy than when forming it alone is spreading as light to many countries, to many people, to many who are poor, and to many who are suffering.

When you members form the IN in this way, there may be situations in the world that you yourselves cannot accept. But seen through Goi-sensei's eyes, the light of your IN is reaching so many people who are suffering, people who are grieving, people placed in hopeless situations in the midst of war, and all kinds of people.

So whenever you casually think at home, "Let me form the IN today," please take the initiative and form it. Each and every IN is saving many people.

In this way, continuing to form the IN together with all of you, I am still working in good health. I consider this a great blessing, and I feel it is thanks to the efforts and loving thoughts of all of you members, and so I spend each day always in gratitude.

Today, too, I am very happy and well, having been together with all of you again. I look forward to continuing with you. Let us meet again. Good day to you all.
